ANACOSTIA.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock the first Catholic branch school department of St. Teresa's Church, in Anacostia, was formally opened in Congress Heights at the home of Mrs. Eva Blum, in Nichols avenue. There were about fifty children present and, according to the statements of the ones in charge, the undertaking stands a good show of being a complete success. Rev. Martin P. Egan, assistant pastor, was present and opened the meeting. The teachers are Mrs. Eva Blum, Mrs. Matthew Bailey, Miss Bernice Knott, Miss Mamie Linton, Miss Ann Wagner, Miss Rose Goodwin, Miss Clara Mulligan, Miss Marie Walter, and Miss Alma Knott.

The sudden disappearance of Mrs. Marie Martin, wife of Roger Martin, from her home in Livingston road last Wednesday night is still puzzling the police, who have been asked by Mr. Martin to assist him in locating her. There seemed to be no apparent reason why she should leave home. The couple have been married but a short time, and the woman was a former resident of Philadelphia.

Rev. W. G. Davenport, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, yesterday presented to his congregation the first of a series of leaflets that he intends to publish, concerning the various usages of the church and the reasons why they are used.

Will Guard Rockefeller.

Yonkers, Jan. 21.—Sheriff Doyle, of West Chester county, will appoint the usual force of special deputies this week to guard John D. Rockefeller while he is at his summer home in Pocantico Hills. The oil king had seven deputies scattered over his vast estate last year and his superintendent desires them all reappointed by the new sheriff.

Turkish Officers Made Prisoners.

Constantinople, Jan. 21.—Turkish officers, including Col. Riza Bey, were taken from the English steamship Africa yesterday by the Italian cruiser Vulturino and made prisoners of war.

A NIGHT OF PERIL ON LIGHT VESSEL

Report of Capt. Jacobson on Recent Accident Shows that Life Off Hatteras Is No Rose Bed.

The Diamond Shoals, off Cape Hatteras, is one of the most dangerous and exposed positions in the world where a lightship is regularly stationed.

During the height of the recent storm, on the evening of January 3, Lightship No. 71 was run into by a four-masted schooner, Commander Fulton, of the Bureau of Lighthouses, has just received a detailed and unique report from Thomas Jacobson, the master of the lightship, describing the collision and the work done by his crew during the night following.

Notwithstanding the serious damage sustained, the light was kept burning, and the lightship remained at her station until relieved by Lightship No. 49, which, on telegraphic orders, was sent from New York as soon as news of the accident was received. The keeping of this vessel at her station during the severe weather was of great importance to the safety of the shipping along the Atlantic Coast. The report follows:

"I received a report to go out on the afternoon of January 3, about 5:30 o'clock, the four-masted schooner John Bower, of New York, collided with this vessel, causing considerable damage. The schooner was going at the rate of eight or nine knots, and struck this vessel directly abaft midships, on the starboard side.

"At the time of the collision the wind was from west-northwest, blowing twelve miles, and there was a nasty cross-sea. The ship, being light on the water, was doing all kinds of acrobatic stunts. This kept the mainmast, which had no support after all the rigging was gone, swinging and swaying until jury stays could be got in place and set up; and as the schooner had left a great deal of her headgear on our decks, and also as the night was very dark, this was both hard and dangerous work. The six men on the deck, in trying to save the mainmast, worked manfully all night, and deserve great praise. Two of the men succeeded in fitting up in the galley and connecting the wireless aerial, so as to be able to send a message, and at the same time shackling a wire stay to help hold the mast.

"On the morning of January 10 the Orin arrived, and Mr. Hopkins decided to tow the ship in port, but being unable to get the anchor, the chain was unshackled close to the mooring buoy, after having been hove in forty-five fathoms, with the intention of floating the end of the mooring chain, this has been done on several occasions on this station when changing moorings from one ship to another, but when letting go of the end this time the buoy went below the surface. Whether it was caused by the strong current or because the buoy had water in it from being in the water for so long, I cannot say. After having left the station, your message was received, and the Orin towed the vessel back to her station, the station buoy still being in sight when your message was received. Repairs having been made, the light was kept burning as usual, and the ship kept in right position. Unless very severe weather sets in, the vessel will stay here until relieved by Lightship No. 49, complying with your orders to the best of my ability."

Relative of Col. Roosevelt Follows in His Footsteps.

New York, Jan. 21.—Eugene Vanschaick, a cousin of Theodore Roosevelt, and a noted corporation lawyer, who was arrested yesterday for calling a number of the New York police force a "d—liar," was released to-day after repeating his denunciation before the magistrate. Vanschaick got into argument with the policeman over an order to stop his automobile at a crossing, the officer insisting that the lawyer had refused to obey his injunction. Vanschaick characterized the officer's assertion as a lie.

German Minister at Vatican.

Rome, Jan. 21.—The German foreign minister was received to-day at the Vatican by Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state. The two conferred earnestly for more than an hour. This visit to the Vatican of the foreign minister is regarded as having strong significance in connection with the German elections in which the government is now depending upon the Center, or Catholic, party for control of the new Reichstag.
